ProductAuthority®, an innovative product development and management solution for financial services, enables enterprise product agility by allowing organizations to create the right product at the right price at the right time. With ProductAuthority, you can develop products concurrently to enhance revenue; automate manual processes to reduce costs and create audit-ability; dynamically bundle products to create greater customer value; and get quality products to market up to 30% faster.

ProductAuthority also includes Lifecycle Manager which automates product development and provides a Web-based view into the process, enabling the tracking and management of all participants and tasks to facilitate effective collaboration and eliminate bottlenecks.
